Facts vs Figures-Again.

The Governor's proclamation comes out, as we said y sterday, just in time to neutralize the evil counsels of men who, knowing nothing of the wishes of the people of the State at large, or else indifferent to those wishes, seriously propose and discuss such questions concerning the public debt as whether the voters would agree to pay 2 per cent. more of interest than the average rate under the rejected, repudiated, despised McCulloch bill. These evil counsels are based upon mere assumptions. Let us look at a few more of the figures presented by the Second Auditor in his letter in our issue of Sunday last. We especially commend these figures to the study of our To the Editor of the Dispatch : friends, Messrs. JOHN A. HAMBLE-TON & Co., of Baltimore.

Nobody can use even one thirty-dollar coupon whose tax is not over fortyone dollars. We repeat our explanation of yesterday. It is because the capitation-tax and the school-tax, the latter one fourth of the whole amount, have to be paid in money. The figures

The whole number of persons paying as much as $25 and not over $100 tax is 8,461, leaving only 1,234 who pay more than $100. What do those thoughtless people think of the proposition to allow fewer than 10,000 of richest persons in the Commonwealth to pay their taxes in coupons, and compel more than 300,000 poorer (not to say poor) persons to pay their taxes in

Of the 8,461 who pay as much as $25 and not more than $100, as many as 5,926 pay $50 or less-seven tenths. It is c'ear, then, that as the figures grow larger, the proportion of the lowest numbers must increase relatively to the total number.

d use thirty-dol'ar coupons even it | science.' the State were to invite the tax-payers | thing about it? to pay their taxes in coupons. We say nothing as to railroads or other corporations, or as to licenses. The Legislature can take care of the latter by doubling the tax, or quadrupling it, so far as merchants' licenses are concerned, and making them payable two or four times a year, and by legislating so as to compel corporations to pay their taxes in money.

The whole amount of thirty-dollar coupons maturing annually is $710,-850. After deducting one fourth for the school tax, and eighty cents for cipitation tax, in the case of each taxpayer, the number of thirty-dollar coupons that can be used is about as follows: There are, in number, only 9,695 persons who pay over $25 taxes a year. (One fourth deducted in each

5,926 averaging $44 ($33) 1 coupon $57,786 each 2,535 averaging $80 each ($60)1 coupon each. 878 averaging $120 ($90) 2 cou-177 averaging $240 ($180) 5 coupons each 26,550
64 averaging $320 ($240) 7 coupons each 13,440

$5 averaging $440 ($380) 10 coupons each 10,500

$0 averaging $500 ($375) 12 coupons each 10,500

$256,800 These estimates are liberal to the bondholders. What is to be done with the other $454,050 thirty-dollar coupons? Or add $100,000 more to our estimate, and tell us what is to become of the $354,050 of thirty-dollar coupons which nobody can pay into the Treasury? What would be the price of these coupons te-day if the bondholders and the speculators in coupons knew the facts set forth in the Second Auditor's letter of Sunday last? What would coupons be worth which nobody could use? We hope the Second Auditor will take our estimate as above and correct it by the official documents, and give the true figures to the world. We at that they are not in the Governor's excellent proclamation.

Not for Distribution

The National Republican says : "We do not believe there would have been any difficulty in dividing the col-ored vote of the South between the two parties if the white Democrats had de-aired such a division."

That is pretty cool, considering that for twenty years the Republican's party has been bringing to bear every uence it could command to array the blacks of the South against the whites. However, the above declaration of our esteemed contemporary is only the introduction to another article on its emigration scheme. Continuing, ublican says :

"Since, then, the blacks are solidifled in opposition to Democratic solidity, and since the localities in which the blacks outnumber the whites are fearful of negre domination, the only peaceful adjustment of the trouble must come through a wiser distribution of the people than that which now ex-lo not believe to be the case), there is one suggestion that puts its sch decidedly ludicrous aspect. That is that nothing could induce the negroes to consent to being "distributed."

To the Editor of the Dispatch : The local-option law as enacted by the Legislature allows distillaries to manufacture, but does not permit them to sell in counties or districts that vote against license. This is plain and does sgainst license. This is plain and does not admit of controversy. Under this local-option law can salesmen from liquor establishments outside of the State or from licensed sections of the State visit the local-option districts and solicit and obtain orders for liquors from consumers? Would not such a procedure be discriminating against districts in these districts?

Another point: Some of the cor-respondents of the Dispatch insist that this question is a political issue. Why are we not presented with some proof to substantiate this assertion? The temperance plank was in the platform of both political parties. We are to Reading notices in reading-matter type. I have a special election where no other issues are involved, and how it can possibly be made a political issue is be-yond the comprehension of the country people. The writer of this is a Demo-crat, has always been a Democrat, and as a Democrat intends voting "against cense."

We suppose that the framers of the law intended it to prevent such sales as those referred to by our correspondent.

Price 25 cents. THE RAGING JAMES. THE FLOOD AT COLUMBIA-GOOD BE-HAVIOR OF THE BIVANNA. Highest Point Beached by the Water-Narrow Escape of the Commercial Travel-ler—It Succumbed at Last.

The following from our Columbia correspondent, dated the 2d, though delayed, will prove interesting:

The great flood in the James river, which tegun to subside at 11 o'clock yesterday, had at 12 o'clock to-day fallen only four and a half feet from its perpendicular rise of thirty-five feet. The receding waters gradually reveal the effect of the combined torrents of the Rivanna and James. The track of the Richmond and Alleghany railroad, which has been covered to the depth of about three feet at this point, is so undermined near the aqueduct that the current moved the rails, with the ties adhering, six or eight feet from the road bed for a distance of over one hundred vards. On the berme-bank of the canal opposite that point considerable washouts have been made, whilst both abutments of the bridge which spans, the Rivanna canal are cut down to original foundations. Seven telegraph-poles which supported the wires between the aqueduct and the town having taken through tickets for the Chesapeake bay, we are cut off from all communication with other points along the river. The night before the interruption of telegraphic communication, however, our merchants whose stores are most exposed got the news of the unusual rise at Lynchburg, and moved their goods to upper stories, and thus saved them from a thorough soak-

Several other smaller buildings made obeisance to the deluge by executing the order of "right about face." From Bremo Bluff, nine or ten miles above, informa tion has just been received that the corn-crib and hen-house of Merchant Brightwell have also succumbed to the angry waters and struck out for tide-

A Mr. Taliaferro, drummer for Armstrong, Cator & Co., of Baltimore, having reached Horsepen creek with his jersey load of samples, not recognizing the fact that this stream too was on an unusual splurge, drove in. At a point some fifty yards below what had been a ford, the horse, driver, and trunks parted company—Mr. Talia-ferro swimming out from the north side, whilst the horse, without the jersey and trunks, got a foothold on the south bank. Mr. Taliaferro estimates his loss at $600. The lowgrounds as far as can be seen at this writing are coated with several inches of sediment, which, in the opinion of Mr. J. S. Payne, a large farmer on the river, cannot fail to be destructive to the wheat and grass crops.

The rise at this point attained a height within four feet six inches of the great flood of 1877, which was exceeded at this point only a few inches by the unprecedented inundation of unusually high-not even reaching the ordinary rise of last November. Had "HENRY WARD BEECHER lectured it reinforced the James with its mighty cords. But the submerging of this one is sufficiently Noachian to teach the Columbians the necessity of roost-

Despite the rush of these mighty waters around the door-sills of its office, the first number of the Columbia Bulletin was served to its subscribers to-day. May its christening in these high tides foreshadow a career of great prosperity and usefulness.

We too have been visited by the flood, as well as other sections. Two bridges over the Nottoway river-to wit : Jones's bridge and Gill's bridgewere carried away by the high wa-ter of Thursday night. The lands are thoroughly soaked by the rains, and much damage has been done by the washing away of the soil on low grounds and upon rolling uplands. In many localities the plant-beds have been either totally destroyed or seriously in-jured. Mr. A. A. Hardy lost several sheep by the flood. I have heard of no er loss of animals in this county. I heard to-day that Jonesboro' bridge, over the Nottoway, in Brunswick county, had been carried away. next. Farmers, Organize! To the Editor of the Dispatch : The most striking feature of this latter end of the nineteenth century is the banding together and co-operation of the various trades and pursuits. Every interest has its executive committee or head, who issues orders affecting the earnings and business of every member. This active and all-pervading system is now in full force, making authoritative demands, not only as to the per diem that shall be paid to the enrolled members of the guild, but suspending the work of all employees who seek to cheapen labor. One integral part of the community, and one only, is wholly without controlling, and perhaps, protective, organization, and this class is the basis on which all the others subsist. We refer, of course, to the farmers. It may be said with strict truth that a this time not one of that indispensable class in the State is making his actual expenses. When we use this expression we intend to exclude luxury in every shape. The truck-farmers may be an exception. Those who sell meat. corn, wheat, and tobacco will bear testimeny to this statement as truly veracious, for all these "crops" yield less when sold than they cost the poor maker to bring them to market. Taxes have increased, and are increasing as the "bills" show. This statement can be verified by comparison with other years, and will show in some counties more than 100 per cent. increase. A merchant in the town of Fredericks burg, who handles the corn of the Rappahannock Valley, told the writer a few days ago that even those farmers in clars will make others. Our present detestable Constitution is not suited to our sparse population, or to the genius of our people. There are too many officials and too much county levy. Among progressive people the importance of woodland in its effects upon rainfall is acknowledged, and such land, including awamp land, is exempted from taxation. Here such unproductive land is included in the assessment, and as in many cases it is half of the farmer's area he really pays $20 per acre inarea he really pays $20 per acre instead of $10, at which his land is assessed. The writer in many years of experience has never known the agricultural class so poor and impecunious as now. He has no remedy, but the present state of things cannot sustain this most important class. Let us do, at all events, what others are doingorganize! organize! organize! AGRICOLA.
